THE MANOR VILLAGE
LIFE
CENTERS™

Sometimes a single moment is content to stand alone, like a precious, solitary jewel. An isolated experience that is beautiful unto itself.

Sometimes moments gather meaning through occasions, casual and comfortable in the company of others: a celebratory dinner, a slow dance to that special song, an afternoon shopping spree with friends.

And sometimes, those individual, would-be-fleeting moments in our lives join together with great gusto, inspiring a special sense of value, of belonging to the whole, for all time. This is where we make the move from participation to performance. It's where we sparkle.

When the many components of the Lifestyle Experience® we offer our Residents at The Manor Village come together just so, the result is something striking — something beyond what we might ever have imagined. And that is our Mosaic.

THE MANOR VILLAGE

LIFE
CENTERS™

Art is the creative expression of how we relate to one another and to the world around us.

The process of creation itself can be joyful, brilliant even, but it's really only a beginning. When the symphony, the dance, the drawing, the sculpture, a movie, a pair of mittens, or even a special meal is shared — that's when art in any form truly moves us, charms us, and enriches our everyday lives.

Over the next 12 months we'll be exploring creativity and the arts. We sincerely hope you'll join us. Whether you're an artist in your own right, a connoisseur of the bold and the beautiful, or a self-professed all-thumbs rookie, this is going to be a great year to expand your horizons.

January

Music

We can't touch it but it definitely touches something deep within all of mankind. Washing over us from the inside out, music has the power to calm or incite, to soothe, entertain or inspire. Music can uplift our spirits and sway our mood. It can also sway our hips, if we let it.

And it sure does feel good to let go. So latch on to a familiar tune or an enchanting rhythm and let it whisk you back in time, or forward onto the dance floor.

Circus Arts

Inside the Big Top everything has an air of the surreal. The kaleidoscope of sights, sounds and smells enchant ladies and gentlemen and children of all ages. Wide-eyed we're mesmerized as trapeze artists fly from the rafters, contortionists bend over backwards, and face-painted buffoons clown around in over-sized candy-apple-red loafers.

The circus is an honest to goodness old-world spectacle. Look on in awe and wonderment as you exercise your right to remain young at heart.

Literature

A good book is like an old friend. Time spent in each other's company can warm our hearts, stretch our imaginations, rejuvenate our spirits and secure our allegiance forever. Sometimes just knowing we've got one standing by is enough. A renowned shelf life assures the opportunity to meet up, or to get re-acquainted, will always be there.

When fiction bumps reality and characters in a book come to life — then take your breath away, you've got yourself a real page-turner. There's no need to read anything more into it. Just indulge.

Dance

Dancers project the emotion of music onto the dance floor with grace in leaps and bounds and sometimes, pirouettes. Seemingly weightless, like waves caressing a sandy shore, their strong yet supple bodies move in time through time, effortlessly. Ballroom dancers navigate the flowing landscape in synchronized pairs. A tap dancer's feet define the beat through a frenzied staccato of heels and toes. Cha-cha-cha.

To watch talented dancers is a real spectacle. To follow their lead is exhilarating. But don't overthink it. Let the music move you.

Theatre

A grand performing arts theatre presents a world of heavily refined opulence. Vaulted ceilings, red carpet, velvet drapes, terraced seating, and crystal chandeliers that enchant more than they illuminate. Up on stage the actors breathe the same air as we do. The set and costumes provide clues to place and time. We're eager to go all in: to believe what we can see with our own eyes.

Intermission draws us back to the present as artificial light reflects off diamonds and cufflinks in the crowd. All the world's a stage. Go on then — mingle.

Drawing and Painting

Still life. Landscape. Abstract. Stick men. No matter your subject, medium or level of artistic know-how, the joy of creativity is in the process of creation. Art imitates life. Play with it.

Seek inspiration in what others have accomplished. Stroll through galleries. What is it you like about what you like? Be courageous. Flex your imagination. Experiment with different strokes and shades and instruments. Mix your colors. Get your hands dirty. Create.

August

Sculpture

Often larger than life, sculpture is three-dimensional art occupying real space in majestic form. Many of those carved in stone have inspired awe and wonder for centuries. Michelangelo's "David" will take your breath away. The human profiles on Easter Island will leave you scratching your forehead.

Whether it stands tall as a totem pole, solid as the Sphinx or temporary as a swan carved from a block of ice, sculpture is a testament to civilization, and a statement against gravity.

Photography

The eye of the camera sees what we see, only objectively and with more intense focus. We look, blink and shift our line of sight in favor of endless distraction. But the camera, it freezes time for all time, for more careful scrutiny later.

The camera captures more than an image. It captures light, a mood, a memory, an occasion and even eternal youth. It's said the camera never lies; that it sees right through us. An honest photograph is candid. For best results smile — but only if you mean it.

Magic and Illusion

The child in all of us secretly wants to believe in magic. The savvy grown-up wants to see through the smoke and mirrors: to spy and expose the trickery. But really, where's the fun in that? When what we see defies reality. When an elephant vanishes or gravity gives way to levitation. It doesn't make sense, but we saw it with our own eyes and it was awesome.

Let's suspend our disbelief for a little while. Let's tap into our inner child and enjoy the magic of the moment, no questions asked.

A close-up photograph of various fresh ingredients and spices arranged in several small, light-colored wooden bowls. In the foreground, there are vibrant red and orange chili peppers. Behind them, several bowls contain different types of ground spices, including a bright yellow powder, a reddish-pink powder, a dark brown powder, and a green herb powder. To the right, there are fresh blueberries and dark olives. The background is softly blurred, showing more bowls of ingredients, creating a sense of a well-stocked pantry.

Culinary Arts

A pantry filled with fresh whole foods and exotic spices: that's what inspires the artist's palette in the kitchen. When the right ingredients merge through practised technique, human sustenance is elevated to an art form.

The beauty of the plate sets the stage for temptation. It whets the appetite. You can't stop there. You simply must take a bite. A true culinary genius wins the audience over from the inside out. You've got it in you to savor the subtleties.

Crafts and Fibre Arts

Creating something tangible, purposeful, beautiful. Transforming threads and skeins and strips and scraps from a hoarded stash into a pair of slippers, a toque, a doll or a quilt that warms to our touch and hugs us back. These handmade heirlooms, softly infused with sentiment, weave the present and the past and the past and the future. The connection is tactile and the stories as colorful as a tapestry.

Try your hands at making something special for someone special. You might just surprise yourself with your own creativity.
